

MIT Panhellenic Association Code of Ethics

Adopted March 28, 2011

We, the Greek women of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in order to create a harmonious Panhellenic community, agree to uphold the UNANIMOUS AGREEMENTS of the National Panhellenic Conference, the Panhellenic bylaws and recruitment guidelines set by our university, and the following honorable convictions in all thoughts, words, and actions at all times: Integrity, Respect, Loyalty, Acceptance, Accountability, Scholarship, and Sisterhood. These values shall be the driving forces of all actions and decisions made by our organizations.

Understanding that being a sister of any MIT Panhellenic chapter is a reason to be proud, we shall strive to show concern and respect for all of MIT's Panhellenic organizations. In accepting the moral obligation to live up to high standards, we aim to hold each other accountable for behavior that is inconsistent with our expected standards of conduct. We shall set aside competition to strive for a more united Panhellenic community; in doing so, we aspire to create a unified force that will aid in the growth and development of the FSILG community on our campus. We aim to motivate all members of our community to uphold the ideal "Be More, Be Greek," in order to set an inspiring standard for the thoughts, words, and actions of future generations of MIT Panhellenic women.
